

A message from the Musulín Law Firm regarding our response to COVID-19

We at the Musulin Law Firm are taking steps to ensure the safety of our clients, our office team and our colleagues at this uncertain time.

We are aware that the coronavirus raises new issues for you and your family, and we are here and equipped to deal with them. We are abiding by the guidelines and direction from the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention, as well as other relevant authorities, as circumstances change from moment to moment. As of Monday, March 16, Christopher Rade Musulin, Esquire and Pamela Musulin, are keeping our office open and operational. The balance of our personnel is working from home in accordance with the CDC's guideline regarding social distancing. Be assured that our internal communication systems enable everyone on our team to work without interruption from remote locations. During this period, we will remain fully available by email and phone to support your needs. Our office's main telephone number, (609) 267-0070, remains the best way for you to reach our staff and attorneys. In addition, each of our attorneys remains fully available via email. In addition, to ensure your safety and the safety of your family, we will be conducting all meetings via phone or by a form of video conferencing. Please also be advised that we are accepting new clients and will schedule initial consultations via telephonically or by video conference as well.

Our service to our clients remains of paramount importance to us, and we are also monitoring the situation of the New Jersey Court system as we move our clients' cases forward.

We will continue to keep you apprised of any changes, and we wish you and your family good health.

Thank you for entrusting us with your very important matters. Stay safe.